OH, BOY! What youngster doesn't get a thrill out of inspecting fire engines? The pupils of the Free Church Co-Operative Pre-School were no exception when they visited the fire station with their teacher, Mrs. Thayer Warshaw. ## Public Utilities Registration Required For Snow Trucks

The town stands to pay more money for its snow removal operations, based on a law enacted last August by the Legislature.

The amendment to a statute governing the licensing of trucks by the Department of Public Utilities requires all trucks to be licensed — even in those cases where a person owns only one vehicle. The kicker, however, is that higher rates apparently go with state licensing.

Where the town now pays $5 hourly for trucks to haul snow, the rate probably will be in the neighborhood of $6. Highway Supt. Stanley Chlebowski said the $5 rate has been paid to truck owners who have not been required to have a state DPU license. Others in town have received the $5 rate, which they have on file with the state and which can not be decreased under penalty of legal action by the DPU.

A spokesman for the DPU told the Townsman this week that truck owners in most cases should have little difficulty in obtaining the state license, because it is considered that they must be doing a good job if they have been hired by the town. However, the owners must apply for the special license, which is issued by the state on the basis of evidence that the trucks are needed in the area for the "common good and necessity".

Drainage Study Urgent Need; Want Engineering Department

Drainage caused many a furrowed brow at a joint meeting of the Planning Board and Selectmen Monday night, as members tried to find some solution to the over-all problem.

Of special urgency, the officials agreed, is a survey of existing facilities and plans for the expansion of facilities throughout the town. It appeared that an article will certainly be placed in the annual town meeting warrant, asking the voters for sufficient money to have the work done properly.

Once the plan is in hand, there was strong feeling that a town engineering department should be established to carry it out. Planning Board members in particular stressed the need for a full-time engineer, who could be of assistance to all official agencies of the town and to individuals who have specific problems relating to town facilities.

The discussion was further complicated by a legal ruling by town counsel Fredric S. O'Brien.

He said the town has the right to take steps to avoid situations which would result in damage to town-owned property where there is no solution to the problem or result in the town having to spend money to increase the size of drainage facilities to solve a similar problem.

Under the law, he told the combined boards, the town may hold the developer liable for the damages — if they are not prevented — under certain conditions.

The ruling went like this:

If a person artificially channels water, via a ditch or pipe, to go where it didn't go before; or increases the over-all amount of water; or increases the amount of water during a specific period of time without increasing the total amount carried by the pipe; and dumps this water onto a neighbor's land (the town), then the person must have permission to put the water there. He must have the permission, even though the place it is to be put — a brook or ditch — is adequate to handle the flow of water.

In short, the counsel continued, an artificial channel of any kind requires the permission of the neighbor, on whose land it would run.

"You also have a right to protect yourself against damage you

Service Planned On Vets' Day

Veteran's Day — Nov. 11 — will be celebrated here chiefly with free movies at the Andover Playhouse for the youngsters of the community.

Veterans' Agent Francis P. Markey, speaking for the Patriotic Holiday Committee, said a memorial service will be held at 11 a.m. in the theatre. And Post 8, American Legion, will hold a service at the Legion lot, also at 11 a.m.

The three veterans' posts — Legion, VFW and DAV — will decorate graves of veterans this weekend, placing new flags on the graves.

The movie next Wednesday will be shown twice — at 9 a.m. for the elementary grades and at 11 a.m. for the older boys and girls. Tickets will be distributed throughout the public and parochial schools early next week.

The Legion will take part in the High School assembly program Nov. 10, as it did last year, marking the day set aside to honor veterans of all wars.

Will Hold Funds For Rogers Brook

The state has agreed, in writing, to hold onto $255,000 for Rogers Brook reconstruction, until after the March town meeting.

The state has promised to spend that amount of money on the Brook, if the town spends the $175,000 it appropriated as matching funds. The job would run from west of Main st. to the east side of Whittier st. A letter from the state Division of Waterways also agreed to investigate the cost of the eastern section of the Brook job, from Whittier st. to Highland rd. A rough estimate of this section has been placed at $30,000, the letter stated.

The Selectmen had urged the state to take this action, stating a belief that the townspeople should have a chance to act again on the controversial Brook project. There appeared to be some question as to whether the matching funds voted many months ago

'Tom Sawyer' Coming To Andover Next Week

An aura of excitement hovers over the Shaw Barn Headquarters of the Childrens Theater Workshop as rehearsals for "Tom Sawyer" go into the final week.

Each member of the cast has memorized his lines and is now concentrating on learning stage directions, picking up his cues quickly, and trying on costumes while he looks forward to Nov. 13 at 8:15 and Nov. 14 at 3 p.m., when the play will be presented in the Andover High School.

This year the Workshop has put great stress on the fact that there is a place for every single youngster who becomes a member, even if he is not in the play. In

Caffrey Promoted By U.S. Attorney

ATTY. ANDREW A. CAFFREY
United States Attorney for Massachusetts, Elliot L. Richardson, Jr. announced the promotion of Atty. Andrew A. Caffrey, 47 Woodland rd.

Atty. Caffrey will assume the newly-created post of first assistant to the U. S. Attorney. He has been in charge of the civil division since his appointment in February, 1955.

Atty. Caffrey resigned as associate professor at the Boston College Law School to accept the federal appointment. He had held that position from 1952-'55, after spending the years between 1949 and 1955 as an assistant professor at the B. C. Law School.

A graduate of Lawrence High School, class of 1937, Atty. Caffrey received his A. B. Degree from Holy Cross College, cum laude. He took his LL.B. Degree from Boston College Law School, cum laude, in 1948 and, the same year, received his LL.M. Degree from Harvard Law School.

He served in the Signal Corps during World War II, enlisting as a private and being discharged in 1945 as a first lieutenant, as a Signal Corps intelligence officer.

He is married to the former Evelyn White of Lawrence. The couple have four sons and a daughter.

Atty. Caffrey is vice president of the Bay State Chapter of the Federal Bar Association and is a member of the American Bar Association, Boston Bar Association, Harvard Law School Association, Boston College School of Law Alumni Association, and serves as president of the Holy Cross Alumni Club in the Merrimack Valley. He is a member of the Andover Catholic Men's Club and the Holy Name Society of St. Augustine's Parish; and holds membership in the Bon Secours Men's Guild.

No Decision On Disputed Pit

No decision has been reached on a request for a renewal of a gravel pit off South Main st., which abuts North Reading and has no access into Andover for the gravel trucks.

The Selectmen heard the petitioners and opponents — many of the latter from North Reading — at a recent hearing. And at that time the petitioner, represented by Atty. Harold Morley, was told that proper application forms and other documents must be filed before action could be taken.

One of the most ardent opponents of the Pit was Miss Bessie P. Goldsmith, who alleged that the contractor had taken material from land owned by her brother, which abuts the section owned by the operator. She also complained that a right of way, that had been processed through land court, has been displaced.

At Monday's meeting of the Selectmen, a letter from Miss Goldsmith was read, in which she challenged the validity of some "kindling wood" stakes that have been put up to indicate the bounds of the property. She also again mentioned the right of way, and asked whether the Board has determined how much gravel is left in a section of the pit that will be cut off from the remainder by Route 125 construction.

Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien, she stated, has seen the maps referring to the land court and has also discussed the problems with her.

Mr. O'Brien told the Board that people in North Reading seem to be the ones affected by the right of way, and that they have private means of adjusting any grievance. He also explained to the Board that it can not expect to look into every detail such as this, when individuals have proper procedures to protect themselves from infringements on their rights. The Board took no further action on the permit renewal.

actually harmed, then no harm comes from the artificial channeling of the water. But if the flow of water does damage, then the town or an individual has the right to complain and seek damages.

Impossible Situation

As the implications of the ruling sank home, Planning Board Chairman Donald Thompson commented "It's impossible. How can we approve another development in the town?" Planning Board member Harold King echoed the feeling, commenting "Might just as well close up shop."

They referred to the idea expressed during the meeting that most of the town has inadequate drainage, and that any development is likely to cause some damage — either financial or physical — on town property.

Other than agreeing that a survey is badly needed, and that an engineering department would be very helpful, the board members felt they should have time to discuss the legal opinions. Thus a meeting was called for Nov. 18 at 8 p.m. to further explore the problem.

Specific, Not General

Chairman Eugene A. Bernardin Jr. started the meeting off with a general explanation of the drainage problems on Lowell st., relating to the Wild Rose Farm and other developments from which drainage water will come.

But before the meeting had gotten off the ground, Mr. Thompson told the group he thought there should be a general discussion, not specifically about the development on Lowell st.

However, throughout the long session, facts about that drainage problem kept cropping up, as examples of the conditions facing the town.

Briefly, the Wild Rose Farm area is being developed by John Philip Enterprises, who have installed a 60-inch drainage pipe.
This was designed, according to Harry Axelrod, one of the developers, to take care of this area plus other undeveloped land nearby which eventually will be sub-divided.

But the 60-inch pipe runs out to Lowell st., and meets two 24-inch pipes that cross Lowell st. Planning Board engineer Ralph Preble told the gathering that these would handle about one-third of the flow from the 60-inch pipe if that one was being used at capacity. He also informed the boards that the Lowell st. pipes were insufficient to handle the drainage, even before the development came in.

The Planning Board explained that a definitive plan for some 40 houses was presented to that Board, and the members believed drainage from that portion of the over-all sub-division could be adequately handled by the 24-inch pipes under Lowell st.

Mr. O'Brien agreed that he had advised the Board that there was no basis for restrictions on the developer if the drainage from the area covered in the definitive plan would not be of greater amount than previously.

But, he warned, whenever the Board is faced with further plans that increase the amount of water, or the amount carried at a specific time, then the approval of the town must be given to the developer for that specific job.

Several neighbors, present at the discussion, urged some immediate solution to the Wild Rose Farm drainage, because they feared that time spent waiting for a survey might result in allowing unsatisfactory conditions existing in the meantime.

Possible Solutions

There was no agreement among the board members regarding solutions.

There was some mention of practices in some localities, where anyone who builds a house is required to pay into a "kitty" to be used by the town for improved facilities, including schools. The possibility of requiring the developer to pay for improvements, to some distance from his own land, was discussed, as well.

Axelrod's Opinion

Mr. Axelrod told the gathering he has tried to cooperate in every way possible. He mentioned having tied in to the 15-inch water line in Lowell st. at extra cost, so that the supply would be better; and connecting his water lines to those in Lovejoy and Argilla rds., so that service in the whole area would improve. He also told the board members he planned the 60-inch drain pipe so that undeveloped lands, which he does not own, can be drained too, whenever they develop.

Mr. Axelrod suggested that the town should go part way, too, in solving mutual problems.

It has been reported previously that the developer wanted the town to put in a larger culvert under Lowell st., and had agreed to furnish the pipe if this could be done. The Selectmen and Town Manager Thomas E. Duff had dis-claimed any responsibility for it, stating that they did not wish to become responsible for any damages if the neighbor across the way should be harmed by the flow of water into a brook on the neighbor's land.

Atty. O'Brien, Monday night, also mentioned the possibility that an individual might be able to claim damages from the town if the municipality allowed water to pass over its land, onto private land, and damage resulted.

said, however, that agreement have the water run on town private lands could be covered properly-drawn easements.

There were other suggestions the meeting; that developers required to insert articles in the town meeting for special improvements — allowing the vot-to pass judgment on them; or that the drainage study propobe presented at town meeting the view that the voters could effect, pass judgment on whether the town should grow via subdivisions. Approval of the study would indicate voter approval, while rejection would show that majority of the voters at the meeting didn't wish the town to anything to help development.

Other Areas

While the Wild Rose Farm development was the center of attention, others were also mentioned.

A development off Summer which would add to Rogers conditions, was discussed briefly as was the Realty Construction Co. project at Oascomb rd. Two or three others, not yet in the final planning stages, were brought up.

Selectman William Stewart commented that he did not wish impede any builder's progress, feels that something must be to protect the town against expenditures for facilities that become overtaxed through new developments.

WORKSHOP PLAY

Following this policy, the costumes, properties, makeup, lighting and scenery will all be handled by Workshop members under the direction of board members or committee chairmen. One of the biggest and most complicated tasks of the production is that of the scenery and stage property crews. "Tom Sawyer" has 12 different scenes; many of them calling for such things as trees and stumps, church pews or school benches, grave stones, bushes, a pulpit or a judges bench. These have all been created out of paper, wire, wood and cardboard, under the supervision and at the homes of Mrs. William Stevens and Mrs. Hugh Morse, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Cross, Mrs. Fred Bradley, Mrs. William Washburn, Mrs. Richard Marshall, Mrs. Stephen Parson, Mrs. C. X. Larrabee and Mrs. George Laaff and all the youthful members of this committee. They are Peter Chase, Mary Gail Curio, Gretchen Currier, Paul Dantos, Carol Dantan, Ellen Marshall, Martha Ellen Eastman, James Grew, Jerelyn Haggerty, Judith Hanson, Rozzie Kemper, Patricia Leary, Read Majors, Linda Palmer, Mark Patterson, Jacqueline Penny, Catherine Roehrig, Deborah Sarson, Madeline Sarson, Maggie Washburn, Holly Washburn, John Wilson and Janet Workman.

Others on the stage property assignment are Jane Axelrod, Andrea Barenboim, Nancy Bradford, Diane Cannon, Philip Cheney, Cecily Duncan, Fred Jewell, Mary Kyger, Sarah Larrabee, Duncan Mackintosh, Abbot Rogers, Linda Stulgis and Merrill Wreden. There will be 18 youngsters working on scenery-moving during the production. They are divided into four groups, each having a number so that each will know exactly what to do and where to go during the play. Mrs. William Edwards, play director, has suggested that if things run smoothly enough during the scenery changes, that the curtain might be opened at certain intervals to show the audience with what practiced efficiency these stage hands move.

Tickets for the play will be sold in the Andover schools Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 9 and 10. Parents may send their money to school with their children on those dates. It is also suggested that all children under the age of 12 be accompanied to the play by an adult. The sponsors of the Workshop will mainly attend the Friday night performance, while students will make up most of the audience Saturday and also on the following Wednesday, when "Tom Sawyer" will again be presented in the North Andover High School at 3:15.

REQUIRED ON TRUCKS

Although the DPU spokesman didn't believe there would be any great problem for local truck owners, he advised that they will have to ask for a public hearing in order to establish rates for their trucks. These are based on capacity of the vehicles and any other information furnished at the hearing by the owners. Once established, the rates can not be altered by the owners to meet any specific job requirement. This would result in the town having to pay more for the trucks used for hauling. But it will not interfere with hiring the trucks for snow plowing, which the state does not consider to be transportation. Hauling snow, sand, and sanding roads comes under the transportation heading, however, and a license would be needed for this.

Until the law was enacted this summer, persons who owned one truck were exempted from the state control altogether. This gave the town a chance to hire trucks for whatever rate seemed fair. The town called for prices on the use of trucks at the start of the year, as a means of establishing this rate.

Under the new law, the price will be fixed at whatever rate satisfies the DPU after the public hearing.

Considerable emphasis has been placed on having a thorough understanding of the new statute locally, because several of the six private trucks used in snow removal have not been licensed by the DPU. If they are to be used this year, the owners must have the approval by Nov. 29.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Honest Motives

By this time, most taxpayers must have read about the scandalous financial conduct, exposed by the annual state audit of the state Department of Public Works. That audit revealed shocking conditions, such as paying premium winter rates for work done in the summer; errors in addition in favor of the contractors; paying for a hurry-up job that was slowed down; and similar errors that all indicate sloppy administration of the department.

When the audit was made public by the state-elected auditor, considerable speculation immediately followed as to why he would thus expose fellow Democrats. Mr. Buckley, it was immediately alleged, must have some hidden motive. Otherwise, it was speculated, why would an elected Democrat thus bare the secrets of a department run by other Democrats.

Perhaps the answer is simple. Instead of harboring some secret motive, Mr. Buckley might very well be as shocked and angered by the results of the audit as are most taxpayers. The public announcement of the findings might very well be the act of an honest, and outraged, official, who believes that the public is entitled to know how its money is being spent.

Those who speculate about motives often look too deep, and search out reasons that don't exist, in an apparent effort to avoid the simple answers. In this case until there is reason to think otherwise, we believe the state auditor did all of us a service in making the facts known, for the same reasons that any of us would have if we were in his job — we applaud Mr. Buckley for his sense of honesty.

Good Effort Towards Friendship

The urgency of the Raytheon parking problem was highlighted Monday night by Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, when he told the Selectmen that a snow storm would create serious trouble in Shawsheen.

He referred to the parking on town streets, which was been unavoidable, but a continuing subject of discussion and debate by residents, officials of the plant, and the town.

Fortunately, the firm is now starting construction of a new parking facility, which will help solve the problem for the winter. But this alone is not enough, because additional employees bring more cars into the area, and some present employees will always be seeking locations outside of the parking area.

Of particular significance, and we believe this will prove to be of vital importance in improving community relations, is the proposal that Raytheon pay the cost of an officer for full-time duty in the area. Certainly a regular member of the department, paid but not controlled by Raytheon, could help immeasurably. And his presence would apparently give the nearby residents a feeling of security they now do not possess. This step, alone should thus improve the relationships between residents and Raytheon to a point where other problems could be worked out peacefully and with good will.

Must Find Reasonable Answer

Monday night's revelation that the town can, to protect its own interests, shut down many sub-divisions is sobering to those who wish to see orderly growth in the community.

Theoretically, according to a ruling by town counsel, the town can move to avoid damage to the town by drainage from a sub-division, by refusing to allow the developer to build until the drainage problems are solved satisfactorily. This is not an arbitrary situation — rather, the town must be relatively certain that damage would actually occur.

But even this authority is a lot, considering the poor drainage conditions throughout the community. There are few, if any, sub-divisions that will not create some damage, in terms of extra dollars for installation of larger facilities or actual physical damage to roads and town-owned property. If town officials desired, they might well shut down most of the new construction in the town.

We trust that, instead, there will be a continuing effort to develop a solution, without resorting to the course of action favored by some few people — the prevention of growth by the town, to avoid becoming a large community. There must, indeed, be a middle ground which will be favorable to the town and, at the same time, fair to the developers and the persons who wish to share the benefits of living in our community.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — November, 1909

H. Winthrop Peirce, the artist, who has been spending the summer in Mexico, has returned to town, stopping en route to visit for a few weeks in Catskill, N. J.

The fire department was called out early Sunday morning to the home of James Ronan on Pearson st., to extinguish a blaze caused by an overheated chimney.

Several changes have been made in the Punchard lineup for the Exeter game, owing to Boland's injury. Dole and Bowman are at half back, Cates is at tackle, Sullivan at center and Lawson at quarterback.

After Judge Bell's impressive talk at the Civic League meeting last month, a resolution was passed asking for a public temperance meeting. This has been arranged for Sunday night.

25 Years Ago — November, 1934

Andover went completely "wet" at the election Tuesday — one of several surprises in the election. Last March, the "wet" vote was only eight more than the "dry" vote, but Tuesday's election produced a plurality of 247 for the sale of hard liquors. The sale of beer and wine was approved by a larger number of voters. There had been a thorough campaign in the town against the sale of alcoholic beverages. The other surprising factor was the increase in the Democratic vote. Although Republicans carried the town, they had much less of a margin than normally.

The Andover PTA has started a student aid fund, primarily to help students paying their way through college. Some money will be used, however, to help local school students with small items.

The Building Committee has decided to cut down the size of the gymnasium and the stage, in order to get plans for a structure that can be built for the appropriated amount. It will take three weeks to re-draw the plans.

The local C.D.A. will install officers in K. of C. hall Monday night. Mrs. Frank McDonald is in charge.

Three fine, large branches of forsythia, in full bloom, were brought into the Townsman office this week by Robert Deyermund.

The annual Red Cross appeal starts Sunday. Chairman of the Chapter is Allan V. Heely.

10 Years Ago — November, 1949

A new six-million gallon reservoir is proposed as one of the foremost projects for town meeting action. The long, dry spell last summer emphasized the need for additional storage capacity, according to town officials. A special planning committee, representative of various town boards, is considering the suggestion now.

An Essex st. woman and her two children were rushed to the Lawrence General Hospital Tuesday morning, and were released a few hours later after treatment. Police said the woman turned on all the gas burners and lit them, in an effort to warm up the house. Instead, all the oxygen was used up and the three collapsed on the floor where they were found by a delivery man. The fire department responded and took them to the hospital.

Punchard won its sixth straight game last Saturday, trimming Lexington, 18-6. Some new razzle-dazzle plays were real crowd thrillers. The game was preceded and followed by Booster Club activities. About 5000 persons attended the game.

Chief George A. Dane said Halloween this year "is one of the best I've ever seen". He said damage was nil, and that some children, attempting to open fire hydrants, were stopped before any water was drawn. This was the only attempt at malicious mischief known to police.

Flames could be seen for miles last Saturday night as a barn on Chandler rd. was destroyed by fire. By the time the apparatus arrived, the structure was a mass of flames. Two lines were laid and a booster line was used to wet down a nearby house.

TOWN COUNSEL RULED
ON MAINTENANCE, ONLY

A clarification of last week's editorial concerning the request of Sidney P. White to install a six-inch sewer line under Andover st. has been requested.

The town counsel ruled that the Selectmen could not enter any agreement for private maintenance of the line, because the town must be responsible for it, regardless of any contract. He stated, however, that the policy decision on allowing the line to be installed was up to the Selectmen and was not a legal problem.

The engineering firm of Camp, Dresser and McKee recommended against the policy of allowing this exception to the over-all sewer report.

Mr. White felt that last week's editorial inferred that the town counsel ruled against installation of the line.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman
"Andover now knows that its trees are cut down, its taxes go up. Consequently, welcome news (Townsman 59 issue) that the Selectmen now working on the single cause of increased taxation the past 13 years.

"Hidden in our property is a subsidy for businessmen in realm of house building. Pleasantly for them, Andover has been too generous in its regulations concerning costs, necessitated by venture. Accordingly, Andover now afford, and needs, a present debts. If this can be obtained by encouraging builders pay more costs of subsidies such as utilities, police, school and road capital, their profit-seeking creates, the builders have little to plain about in the light of past generosity. And Andover much to gain by having the of house building modified only those which pay their are created. Doing that is no than applying the sound principle of successful private enterprise our public affairs.

"First, the Selectmen take care that they do not manage the reopening, at considerable cost to the taxpayers, roads which have long been closed. This hazard to the treasury can be entirely eliminated by abandoning such roads.

There are several towns rounding Andover which are actively seeking developers. It should be encouraged to get together.

"Most promising is the suggestion that the Selectmen study the methods which are by the utilities, gas, electric telephone. They require a customer to pay the share capital costs essential to meet service wants. The law requires that in order to protect customers from paying the customers' costs. The should require no less.

"Another field, and one which both state and federal government are searching, is excise tax upon each new house built within a mile and a half of the federal state roads. It might 20 percent of the market value payable within four months of the first sale or within a year completion. These are but a few of the many methods with the present subsidy to businessmen in this field, and which hidden in our property tax, can be removed. Applying these methods shall give us the proper answer what is a 'Mighty Big Question' only because business sagacity has not been applied to it.

"It is now certain that the Selectmen must incorporate town policy the same foresight and business for protecting the town treasury that successful businessmen employ to protect their pocketbook.

Forgive Us Our Growing Pains

Seems as if nothing good is created without growing pains - not even a super market. The new CO-OP is now under construction but whether the site is attractive depends on the point of view.

Looked at literally, the new CO-OP is nothing but a big hole in the ground. But we fondly envision that hole as a spacious, efficient storehouse for thousands of items of good food for thousands of hungry local people.

Nothing pretty about concrete foundations, either. But as we see them, those foundations will one day support a big store in which Andover shoppers, often accompanied by their children, will be gaily chatting with friends and filling their baskets with good things to eat.

We hope you too can imagine our store as it might be, rather than as it now is. Perhaps you can suggest to us how it might become your "dream store". We invite your suggestions.

Please be patient with us because of our reduced parking space. There is plenty of parking on the Chestnut street side.

Meanwhile, we're doing business as usual.

Icy Reception On Pit Request

A chilly reception greeted the application of Albert Reed to remove gravel from his land on Argilla rd., when he appeared before the Selectmen Monday night for a formal hearing.

Many residents of the area were cool to the idea, claiming that property values would be decreased by the presence of a gravel pit. The Andover Village Improvement Society also opposed the pit, stating that it would abut Baker's Meadow which is owned by the Society. Albert Retelle, speaking for the AVIS, said many plans for the area would be destroyed if the pit is allowed to operate.

Mr. Reed told the Selectmen that he plans to level off a 13½ acre tract that presently is hilly, and rather heavily wooded. It was stated that the work, with about 75,000 yards of gravel to be dug away, would be completed by fall.

Sidney P. White appeared in opposition to the proposal, pointing out that he owns much land that adjoins Mr. Reed's. He said the assessed value of property would be lowered if the pit is allowed. Recognizing that a hardship might be worked on Mr. Reed, he also suggested that many other persons would be harmed if the pit is permitted, and urged a negative decision.

The Selectmen decided to have the three-member gravel pit committee look over the land before arriving at any decision. The subcommittee includes Edward P.
 Hall, William Stewart and James D. Wilson.

Car Recovered On Beacon Street

 car Sunday night, after a Beacon

The car, according to Sgt. William R. Hickey, had been reported stolen in Lawrence about 12:05 a.m. Sunday, and was found here

"Collecting Is Fun" At Abbot Gallery

The current exhibition at the John-Esther Gallery of Abbot Academy, "Collecting Is Fun", is aimed at dispelling the erroneous idea that vast sums of money are needed to own good works of art.

The original prints, ceramics, enamels and silver jewelry on display can be purchased very reasonably. The subject matter is varied, including both representational and abstract art, as well as color and black and white prints. Included among the prints are Japanese wood-blocks, lithographs by contemporary Mexican artists, religious art by French and American artists, and work by some of the younger American artists.

The exhibition was made possible through the cooperation of the Carl Seimbab, Kanegis and Boris Mirski Galleries, the Arts and Crafts, and the Botolph Group, all of Boston, and the Robert Lee Gallery of Newtown, Connecticut.

Opening Friday, Nov. 6, the exhibition will continue through Nov. 29.
